Stop cyber bullying

1-Bullying is not new but thanks to the internet teens are now being bullied at home. Online harassment, more often called cyber bullying, is a serious problem. When bullying comes home via the internet it can leave victims feeling helpless and overwhelmed.

2- Cyber bullying is any harassment that occurs via the internet. Vicious forum posts, name calling in chat rooms, posting fake profiles on web sites, and mean or cruel email messages are all ways of cyber bullying.

3- A student is bombarded by anonymous threatening and taunting emails at home, even though there is no direct harassment at school. The victim has no idea who is sending the messages and starts to feel like everybody is against them. That student is being cyber bullied.

4- A school bulletin board is spammed with name-calling posts that spread vicious rumors about a specific student. The rumors aren't true but kids at school see the posts and believe them. The student is then ostracized by peers. This student is the victim of cyber bullying. A nasty fake profile is posted at a social networking site using a student's real name, photo, and contact information. That student starts getting weird email messages from strangers who think the profile is real. Some of the messages are crude and mean. These are just a few examples of cyber bullying. If you are taking part in things like this it is not harmless fun. You are being a cyber bully. If you are the victim of this type of treatment you are being cyber bullied and there are things you can do to stop the harassment. Bullying has been around forever but cyber bullying is different because it lets a bully remain anonymous. It is easier to bully in cyberspace than it is to bully face to face. Bullies are natural instigators. With cyber bullying a bully can pick on people with much less risk of being caught.

5-There are many things that can be done to combat cyber bullying. The most important thing a victim of cyber bullying can do is not respond to the bully. Do not play in to the bully's games. Do not answer emails, do not respond to posts, do not engage in a chat room exchange, and do not copy what the bully is doing. Ignore the bullying and get help from parents and teachers. Cyber bullies are just bullies with a new weapon in their arsenal of harassment; treat them like you would any bully and they lose their power.
